The Down Dirty, as we see it, is our attempt to demystify the usually complex nature of a family law matter; in this case, a child custody dispute in California. We want to share with you our experiences, including the common missteps of a parent, during what is sure to be one of the most difficult seasons of ones life so that you can have as much information when dealing with the difficult issues that you face. Our goal is to empower people who are represented by attorneys and to assist those who represent themselves in child custody and visitation issues.
