From Hart Publishing UK : The Inquest Book: The Law of Coroners and Inquests before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Inquest Book: The Law of Coroners and Inquests:

In the UK, coronial law is an area that attracts great public scrutiny, reflected in the recent establishment of the office of Chief Coroner, and the number of Judges of the High Court and the Court of Appeal made deputy assistant coroners to particularly sensitive inquests. It is also an area of law that has changed significantly in recent years, since the UK's new Coroners and Justice Act came into force in 2013. This book provides practitioners with an up-to-date and comprehensive guide to the law of coroners and inquests. Written by barristers practicing in the field, it addresses changes to the structure and jurisprudence of coroners' courts in a straightforward, accessible manner. The book is helpfully structured according to the elements of an inquest or the subject matter of a coroner's investigation. Each chapter provides an overview of the legal issues, statutory material, and other sources of guidance, followed by UK case summaries and extracts where the relevant issues are discussed. In addition, there are useful appendices of relevant materials, including applicable legislation and the Chief Coroner's Guidance. The book will be an essential companion for practitioners of coronial law and indispensable to novices and seasoned practitioners alike. [Subject: Coronial Law, UK Law]

This book is a timely and welcome addition for the benefit of those advising in connection with and appearing at inquests. It will also be of enormous benefit to coroners and their deputies. It brings together, in a straightforward and clearly explained way, the legislation and cases on most topics that are likely to be of concern, together with a helpful introduction to each. The appendices contain the core statutory materials and guidance from the Chief Coroner. Mr Justice Garnham and Caroline Cross have produced a readable and authoritative work which will soon become indispensable to those involved in inquests. (From the Foreword by The Rt Hon Lord Justice Burnett PC, Royal Courts of Justice, January 2016) About the Author Caroline Cross is a barrister at 1 Crown Office Row. Sir Neil Garnham is a High Court judge sitting in the Queen's Bench Division.
