

The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights: Cases, Materials, and Commentary

Sarah Joseph, Melissa Castan
*ebooks / Download PDF / *ePub / DOC / audiobook*

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#1562963 in Books 2014-12-05 Original language: English PDF # 1 6.70 x 2.30 x 9.60l, 3.65 #File Name: 01987337471056 pages | File size: 55.Mb

Sarah Joseph, Melissa Castan : The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights: Cases, Materials, and Commentary before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights: Cases, Materials, and Commentary:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very good teaching and shorter reference textBy BokoThis commentary on the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights references leading decisions and dicta of the United Nations Human Rights Committee, along with some material from other supranational bodies, together with comment by the three authors, all of whom are prominent human rights academics. The coverage is comprehensive and the material readily accessible as a student text and also provides a short reference and/or starting point for more developed professional or scholarly work. It can, at that point, be usefully supplemented by the Nowak commentary, which is more detailed but perhaps less accessible, not to mention more expensive, and by the various indexing and digesting services, such as that provided by the Netherlands Institute of Human Rights.<sup>0</sup> of 1 people found the following review helpful. Helpful By Chu Shih-yen I am a professor of law. The book (ICCPR) I bought from AMAZON is helpful for teaching in criminal law and procedure.

Now in its third edition, this book is the authoritative text on one of the world's most important human rights treaties, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. The Covenant is of universal relevance. Adopted by the UN General Assembly in 1966 and in force from 1976, it commits the signatories and parties to respect the civil and political freedoms and rights of individuals. Monitored by the UN Human Rights Committee, the Covenant ratified by the majority of UN member states. The book meticulously extracts and analyzes the jurisprudence over nearly forty years of the UN Human Rights Committee, on each of the various ICCPR rights, including the right to life, the right to freedom from torture, the right of freedom of religion, the right of freedom of expression, and the right to privacy, as well as admissibility criteria under the First Optional Protocol. Key miscellaneous issues, such as reservations, derogations, and denunciations, are also thoroughly assessed. Comprehensively indexed and cross-referenced, this book offers elegant and straight-forward access to the jurisprudence of the Human Rights Committee and other UN human rights treaty bodies. Presented in a clear and illuminating manner, it will be of use to the judiciary, human rights practitioners, human rights activists, government institutions, academics, and students alike.

from previous edition: "a seminal work which will be of enormous interest to the human rights community..." -- Commonwealth Lawyer "... a very useful first step in finding the basic jurisprudence on the protection of civil and political rights under the treaties adopted under the auspices of the United Nations." --Urfan Khaliq, Tolley's Communications Law "... the publication makes a most creditable contribution to systematising and making accessible the work of the Human Rights Committee in the exercise of its various functions ... With its timely collation of the jurisprudence of the Human Rights Committee, it stands alone in the human rights literature." --Australian Year Book of International Law "The book, all 985 pages of it, is an excellent source of reference. No other work has encompassed as much material and case law so far...the wide range of sources is impressive...Of great value is the subject index... this index is exceptionally good, detailed and clear...the compilation of such incredible amounts of material is a gigantic achievement. The inclusion of good-quality indexes and information tables makes the information readily available and is one of the major assets of the work...The volume is a most-needed and welcome contribution for scholars and practitioners alike. It fulfils its aim of bestowing the legal community with an excellent source of information on international human rights law and will certainly aid in the advancement of human rights protection." --Zeitschrift für ausländisches öffentliches Recht und Völkerrecht (Heidelberg Journal of International Law) "The authors are to be congratulated for their thoughtful and insightful analysis, and for their meticulous work in continuing to render the work of the Human Rights Committee accessible to a wide audience of civil servants, scholars, practitioners, and activists." --Australian Year Book of International Law About the Author Sarah Joseph, Director, Castan Centre for Human Rights Law, Monash University, Melbourne, Melissa Castan, Senior Lecturer in Law, Monash University, Melbourne Sarah Joseph is Professor of Human Rights Law and Director of the Castan Centre for Human Rights Law at Monash University in Melbourne. She has numerous publications on human rights, in areas such as the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, corporations and human rights, terrorism and human rights, self-determination, and now global trade and human rights. She is also an expert on Australian constitutional law, having co-written a leading text on that issue. She has taught human rights in many settings, both international and local, for over 15 years. Melissa Castan is a Senior Lecturer and Deputy Director for the Castan Centre for Human Rights Law. Her teaching and research interests are Constitutional Law, Indigenous Legal Issues and Legal Education. She is co-author, with Professor Sarah Joseph, of Federal Constitutional Law: A Contemporary View (2006).