Jude Oseloka Ezeanokwasa : The Legal Inequality of Muslim and Christian Marriages in Nigeria: Constitutionally Established Judicial Discrimination before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Legal Inequality of Muslim and Christian Marriages in Nigeria: Constitutionally Established Judicial Discrimination:

Examines religious liberty and characteristics of Christian (canonical), Islamic and Traditional marriages together with those of the Nigerian statutory marriage. The author establishes religious liberty and equality as being beneficial to both individuals and the state.

"...the reader will find a baggage of legal richness in this book as the author has authoritatively illustrated a comprehensive research on constitutional liberty and equality in religious matters with particular reference to marriage." (Prof. Marcellus Okenwa Udugbor Pontifical Urban University)"
