The New United States Patent LawBy Lola GranolaSo much in such a little book. You can see what was removed, and what was added.

On September 16, 2011, President Obama signed into law the Leahy-Smith America Invents Act. The Act imposes the most sweeping changes to the U.S. patent law in almost 60 years. This publication sets forth in Black Line format each change to Title 35 of the United States Code (patents) effected by the America Invents Act. Insertions are identified by underline; deletions are identified by strike through. The book shows exactly what words in the US patent law are changed and what words stay the same. This is an invaluable tool for understanding the new patent regime. It is an essential reference for every practicing patent attorney, patent agent or business involved with the US patent system. Contents include: --U.S. Code, Title 35 (The U.S. Patent Law), as amended by the Leahy-Smith America Invents Act --U.S. Code, Title 28 (related provisions), as amended by the Leahy-Smith America Invents Act --Code is set forth in Black Line format which clearly shows each change to the U.S. Patent Law --Full citation to source legislation follows each code section --Table of Exceptions to General Effective Date --Excerpts from House Judiciary Committee Report 112-98 dated June 1, 2011. The report sets forth the background and the need for the legislation and explains many of the changes effected by the Act. Handy paperback size. 160 pages. Available in early October 2011.
