Matthew S. Cornick : Using Computers in the Law Office (with Premium Web Site Printed Access Card) (West Legal Studies) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Using Computers in the Law Office (with Premium Web Site Printed Access Card) (West Legal Studies):

Most all of them have terrible editing. In this particular book, the exercises are replete with a writer who delivers the step by step and then assumes the reader knows the next step. It is not a critical step, from my perspective, however there are still some computer users who are not as computer literate as the writer assumes.In another book for a legal course, Cengage uses the wrong citation. Aren't editors supposed to catch that kind of really bad mistake. If you publish a book for students, the learning of the correct information may be more important than the editor, in this particular case, has taken care to protect. If it were a medical text... Cengage is a Boston based company. For shame Cengage - Boston is a mecca of brains - hire one to edit responsibly. 9 of 9 people found the following review helpful. You can't advertise that this book comes with the website ...By Jennifer L. Sommers You can't advertise that this book comes with the website access card for rented books. Access code does not work, now I have to scramble to get a code. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Book arrived in almost like new condition By Tony V Book arrived in almost like new condition. A very thick and heavy book. Each lesson in MS Office is very detailed, step-by-step, so it can seem rather annoying for someone like myself who has experience using MS Office (especially when the instructor requires you to follow step-by-step instructions). Introduction of many legal software programs that I've never heard of, but now gain exposure through, through this text and it's "trial" software downloads.

Focusing on how computers can make paralegals and legal professionals more productive on the job, this updated Seventh Edition of the #1 book on the market offers comprehensive treatment of computer concepts, including coverage of both basic software programs like Word, Excel, and PowerPoint, to more advanced applications using AbacusLaw, CaseMap, Clio, DiscoverFY, HotDocs, Tabs3, TimeMap, and TrialDirector. Real-life examples, pertinent tutorials, ethical considerations, and up-to-date coverage of the most popular software used in all types of legal organizations help readers develop key knowledge and skills. Each topic is presented in a clear and organized manner and includes examples of how the software is actually used on the job. The detailed Hands-on Exercises include Basic, Intermediate, and Advanced assignments to allow for a variety of skill levels. These extensive exercises allow readers to apply their knowledge and practice using computers to complete realistic legal work. This edition reflects the ever-changing rules and decisions affecting the legal process (gathering evidence, managing files, filing with courts, working on electronic copyright issues, presenting exhibits, billing, etc.) and covers the most up-to-date technology available to help paralegals comply to new rules and better handle complex records and files.

"The strengths are the availability of the software, and the lengthy trial periods; the step by-step hands-on exercises, and the readability of the substantive material." "Top 3 general strengths: 1) The text is written in a way that the reader is not bored or gets lost; 2) the step by step instructions in the workbook are easy to follow; and 3) the textbook covers a wide area of the legal field." About the Author Matthew S. Cornick, J.D., is a graduate of the State University of New York at Buffalo and the Emory University School of Law.
