In the spring of 1988, Darren Carlson graduated Magna Cum Laude from Creighton University School of Law. Since such time, Mr. Carlson has been speaking to and entertaining audiences about estate planning. A series of cancer surgeries have left him with the notable appearance as he dons his infamous black eye patch. After a quarter century of practicing law, Mr. Carlson decided it was time to combine his humor and expertise to introduce readers to Estate Planning with nostalgia from the 1960s TV sitcoms to make it fun and informative.
